MEETS DEATH IN ACCIDENT

Dr. Harry Moellering is Instantly Killed at Goshen.

LIMITED TRAIN STRIKES AUTO

Young Fort Wayne Physician Was Returning from Professional Call.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Goshen, Ind., Dec. 29.—Dr. Harry Moellering, a prominent young physician of this city, was instantly killed at 12:45 o'clock this afternoon when the auto in which he was returning from making a professional call in the country was struck by a limited Lake Shore train on a crossing at the eastern limits of the city.

Trainmen were the only witnesses to the accident, and the machine in which Dr. Moellering was riding was completely destroyed. It was a Brush runabout, completely enclosed by storm curtains, and this prevented the young physician from seeing the approaching train. Dr. Moellering was about 26 years of age and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Moellering, of Fort Wayne.

Neck Was Dislocated.

Death must have been instantaneous, for Dr. Moellering's neck was dislocated. There was an extensive gash in the head, but the remains were not otherwise mangled. The accident occurred on what is known as the Wurster crossing, at a point where the Lake Shore railroad runs in a northeasterly and southwesterly direction.

Dr. Moellering was approaching the crossing from the east and drove his machine upon the tracks directly in front of the westbound limited train. The auto was smashed to bits and the body of the young physician hurled a considerable distance. Trainmen stopped the train, picked up the remains of the young man and transported them to the station in this city, where the coroner viewed the body. Later it was removed to Stiver's morgue and the distressing news communicated to the young wife in the family home at 514 South Fifth street. She was completely prostrated by the blow.

Curtains Hid His View.

The accident is believed to have been clearly due to the fact that as a protection against the weather Dr. Moellering had enclosed his auto with storm curtains, which obstructed his view in every direction save the front.

Dr. Moellering came to Goshen in August last, established a handsome office in the Spohn building and was rapidly developing a most thriving practice here. It was while returning from a professional call in the country that he met his death. He was very popular socially and was universally regarded as one of the rising young professional men of the city.

SHOCK IN FORT WAYNE.

Young Physician Had Large Circle of Friends Here.

News of the fatal crossing accident at Goshen this afternoon in which Dr. Harry Moellering lost his life will be a most distressing shock in Fort Wayne, where the young physician was born and reared, and where he had a very wide circle of friends.

He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Moellering, of Washington boulevard east. The father is secretary and manager of the Home Telephone and Telegraph company, and the parents were almost overwhelmed by the distressing news when it was broken to them this afternoon at their home.

Harry Moellering was one of the most popular young men in the city and before him lay a professional career of unusual promise, in which he was rapidly rising. He attended the medical department of Michigan university at Ann Arbor for two years and later graduated from a medical college in Toledo. For a year or more he remained in hospital work in that city, and then began practice at Lima, O. About a year later he removed to Goshen. He was united in marriage about three years ago to Miss Fay Whitman, of Mason, Mich.

PLEAD FOR LABOR LEADER.

Members of French Chamber Petition for a New Trial for Him.

Paris, Dec. 29.—One hundred and fifty members of the chamber of deputies have united in a petition to the government for a new trial for Durand, the secretary of the Coal Handlers' union, who was convicted of instigating the murder of Foreman Donge during the strike on the docks in Havre last December, and sentenced to death.

The plea for a re-opening of the case is based on a claim that a judicial error was made at the trial.

The general confederation of labor has arranged for a big demonstration in front of President Falleries' residence on New Year's day and threatens to call a general strike ten days later, unless the request for a new trial for Durand is granted.

DISCUSSED SECESSION.

War Topic Engages the American Historical Association.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 29.—The third day of the meeting of the American Historical association and its allied societies opened with a general session commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of secession and discussions of "The North in 1860."

In the afternoon there was a discussion on medieval history and conferences of archivists and teachers of history in teachers' colleges and normal schools, which will be followed by a reception for women members of the association.

European history will be the subject of the evening session after which a smoker will be held at the University club for the visitors.

FLEET DIVISIONS TO UNITE.

Gravesend, Eng., Dec. 29.—The fourth division of the United States Atlantic fleet sailed today to join the other divisions at the entrance to the English channel.

MODERN GABRIEL SEARCHES WORLD FOR HIS EVANGELINE

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 29.—Juan Gacias, who says he once served on the body guard of King Alfonso XII, of Spain, sat in the county jail yesterday before a cross made by his own hands and told of years of searching through the American-Latin republics for the lady of his heart, from whom he was separated forty years ago.

Gacias, 65 years old, in the tattered garb of a hermit, and with feet clad in crude sandals, arrived in Long Beach during the morning. Even here, where a Spanish patois is spoken, Gacias had trouble finding anyone who could understand him because his Castilian Spanish was so pure. His general appearance led to his arrest on the charge of vagrancy. After having been sentenced to serve thirty days on the chain gang here, he told his story through an interpreter.

He says that, because of his attentions to a woman of the Spanish court, he was exiled. Later he returned, only to be cast into jail where he remained until the breaking out of the Spanish-American war. He was then permitted to show his fealty to his country by enlisting as a soldier for service in Cuba. Upon his return from exile he heard that Tereza Peralta, the woman who had enchained his affections, had been compelled to take the veil, and had been sent to one of the old Franciscan convents in America.

At the conclusion of the war Gacias says he decided to seek her, and he visited nearly all convents in South and Central America and Mexico. He still has hopes of finding her and believes she is Mother Tereza, said to be connected with one of the missions north of here.

NOT TO DRAW IN THE PROBE

Judge Blair Purposes to Get All the Adams County Boys.

PARTY WORKERS MUST GIVE HELP

If They Refuse, Floaters Will Be Brought in to Testify.

West Union, Ohio, Dec. 29.—The investigation into the wholesale vote buying in Adams county is to be continued through the special grand jury indefinitely. This statement was made from the bench today by Judge Blair whose vigorous action has brought out the facts in the county-wide scandal.

Will Go On With Probe.

"This investigation will be continued indefinitely," said Judge Blair. "After we have had a general investigation of all the townships in the county, I shall call before me the workers of both parties from every township and submit to them the lists of those who have been indicted. I will tell them that there are still others who have sold their votes and that they must have knowledge of who they are. I shall demand that they designate every purchasable vote in their precincts and I shall put special detectives in the field to bring these men in."

Judge Means Business.

"If any worker refuses to disclose the names of those whose votes he has bought, I will bring the 'floaters' in to testify against him. We are going to clean up Adams county, as it has not been purged since the civil war."

One hundred and six additional indictments were reported by the grand jury today, bringing the total number of those indicted thus far up to 998.

Forty-one men have taken advantage of Judge Blair's promise of leniency to all who would come in and confess without having been indicted.

KIDNAPPER BREAKS DOWN.

New York Italian is Identified by His Young Victim.

New York, Dec. 29.—Trembling and agitated from a nervous breakdown which he suffered after he was arrested last night, Giacomo Crimi, a 27 year old Italian, is in a cell at police headquarters today awaiting further examination on a kidnapping charge. He was one of seventeen men arrested by officers under command of Lieut. Vachris, of the Italian squad, in a raid last night on an Italian grocery. Within a short time after the raid six-year-old Giuseppe Di Stefano picked Crimi out of the line of prisoners as the man who kidnapped him from the home of his parents on Elizabeth street last summer. Little Giuseppe could not identify any of the other prisoners. The child was returned to his home in a carriage a week after his capture. Besides the alleged abductor of the Di Stefano boy only one of the prisoners was detained. This was Giacomo Crimi's brother, Giuseppe.

A MAN IS LIVING IN HEAP OF SLAG

Six Bodies Taken from the Scene of El Paso Explosion.

HOPE TO SAVE ONE

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 29.—Efforts of the rescuers at the slag dump of the El Paso smelter early today were directed toward the release of Eusivo Aguillar, the only living man remaining in the slag heap. Aguillar has been pinned under a mass of the slag for nearly 15 hours but is able to talk with his rescuers.

Progress is unusually slow from the fact that every bit of slag must be removed from the tunnel in the dump with long handled hoes. It is expected that Aguillar will be released some time today.

Six is the total of the death list in the explosion of nearly 4,000 pounds of powder. Four bodies still remain in the dump.

JEFFERSON HAYS DAVIS WEDS.

Colorado Springs, Col., Dec. 29.—At an elaborate wedding Jefferson Hays Davis, son of J. A. Hays, and the late Mrs. Margaret Howell Jefferson Davis Hays and grandson of Jefferson Davis, was married yesterday to Miss Doree DeWitt.

HEAD OF ALL ELKDOM GUEST IN FORT WAYNE.

AUGUST ("GARRY") HERRMANN,
Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

MEXICAN REBELS MAKING DEMANDS

Seem to Be Still in Full Control of the Region of the North.

ALL WIRES ARE CUT

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 29.—Superintendent Rutledge, of the Mexico Northwestern, returned to Juarez late last night from the work of repairing the bridges destroyed by insurrectos last week below Guzman. Four of the bridges have been rebuilt without molestation. It was stated that bands of insurrectos were seen on adjacent hill tops, watching the work. No conference with the leaders of the band has yet been brought about. A construction gang, working from Pearson north, is reported to have been turned back and the telegraph wires cut.

It became known here late last night that Jefe Politico Martinez, of Casa Grandes, Sonora, had sent a message to Governor Terrazas, stating that Guerrero, commander of the northern insurrectos had demanded the surrender of the town and urging that reinforcements be sent at the earliest possible moment. Reports that the town had fallen last night cannot be verified on account of the wires being cut.

WAR WITH JAPAN? CAN'T REALLY SAY

Secretary Knox Gives Out Jolly Persiflage on Dalny Incident.

SIDESTEPS REPORTERS

Washington, Dec. 29.—Secretary of State Knox was in warlike mood today. Following a visit to the white house he declared he was in favor of taking Japan on first for three fast rounds of the bloodiest sort of fighting. The secretary had had a long talk with the president. He seemed hardly prepared for the onslaught of the reporters as he reached the executive office doors.

"Do you favor a war with Japan," he was asked. The secretary smiled grimly.

"I do favor it," he replied, "provided, however," he added, "that there are no soldiers on either side except newspaper reporters."

"Have you any particular favorites in the profession you would like to put in the front rank?" some one asked.

"No," said the secretary. "I am not playing any favorites. Put 'em all in the front ranks. I love them all."

"Why did the state department suppress the report of an attack on Vice Consul Williamson by two Japanese and a Chinaman at Dalney, Manchuria?" asked a particularly brave young newspaper man.

"All I know about that is what I read in the newspapers this morning. Therefore I don't believe it is true."

MAN FOUND BEHEADED.

Wife, Just Back from Insane Asylum, is Held.

Lauren's, S. C., Dec. 29.—A. F. Hamilton, a young farmer, living near here, was found dead at his home today with his head almost completely severed from the body and a bloody axe by his side. His young wife, who recently returned home from an insane asylum, is beheld by the authorities. She denies all knowledge of the crime. Among her hallucinations before being taken to the asylum was that she had killed her husband.

CHRISTMAS LEADS THE REBEL ARMY

A Revolution Has Broken Out in Honduras as Per Schedule.

AMERICAN AT HEAD

New Orleans, La., Dec. 29.—Advices received here late last night say a revolution has broken out in Honduras and fighting is going on along the Honduran-Nicaraguan border, twenty-miles below Cape Gracias, Nicaragua. The forces are being led, according to the wireless reports, by General Lee Christmas, who was to have met sixteen hundred men, many of them Americans, on the Nicaraguan border, with forty days provisions. It is known that the Davila government moved $55,000 in silver from Puerto Cortez to Celba and the latter city is believed to be the objective point of the advancing revolutionists.

The reports indicate that the greater part of the fighting is about twenty miles from Cape Gracias, Nicaragua, but on the Honduran side.

It is said that the plan of attack is for Christmas to force his way inland while Gen. Bonilla attacks Celba from the Puerto Cortez side, leaving the Hornet, which is said to be now heavily armed, at Puerto Cortez while that port is held under her guns.

GREAT INTEREST IN SENATORSHIP

New York Public Taking Its Pen in Hand to Says Its Say.

LETTERS AND SUCH

New York, Dec. 29.—Public statements and circular letters favoring the principal democratic candidates for the seat in the United States senate about to be vacated by Chauncey M. Depew, become more numerous with the approach of the first of the year and the time for the convening of the next state legislature.

This contest for the senatorship is of unusual importance because the incoming legislature will be the first that has a democratic majority and power to send a democrat to the senate since the late David B. Hill sat in that body. Edward M. Shepard and William F. Sheehan are the leading candidates.

OFFICIAL HEAD OF ELKS HERE

NOTABLE EVENT NOW UNDER WAY

Initiation, Old Clothes Social, Reception and Banquet on Program.

Coming to participate in a notable occasion for Fort Wayne lodge, August ("Garry") Herrmann, of Cincinnati, grand exalted ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, arrived in the city at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The big gathering includes the initiation of a class of twenty candidates, a reception, the annual "old clothes social" of the lodge and a banquet at which fully six hundred members of the order will feast tonight.

It is the first time in the history of Fort Wayne lodge that it has entertained as its guest of honor the chief official of the great fraternity, and the occasion is being made in every way befitting the importance of Mr. Herrmann's position as the official head of the Elks. Mr. Herrmann himself is widely known to the entire country as a baseball magnate. He is president of the Cincinnati team and chairman of the National commission. The promise to visit Fort Wayne lodge was made by Mr. Herrmann to Fort Wayne brethren at Detroit, soon after his elevation to the principal official place in the order of Elks. Mr. Herrmann reached the city over the Pennsylvania lines and was met by a committee composed of Maurice Niezer, R. S. Viberg and W. C. Schwier, and escorted to the Elks' temple.

Work Was Under Way.

Here work was already under way with the initiation of a class of some twenty candidates. This will be suspended at 5 o'clock, and from that hour until 7:30 o'clock this evening an informal reception will be tendered Mr. Herrmann at the Elks' temple. The gathering is a very large one, and includes prominent members of the fraternity from many near-by points.

The "Old Clothes" social, which is this year blended with the ceremonies of the day, has resulted in immense contributions of cast-off wearing apparel for men, women and children, much of it excellent in grade, which, in conformity with its usual custom, the Elks will distribute among the worthy needy people in Fort Wayne. A great mountain of clothing has been collected in the reception room of the temple, and the distribution of its is left to a special committee of the lodge.

Banquet Big Feature.

Initiatory work will be resumed at 7:30 o'clock, and it will be followed about 9:30 o'clock this evening by the banquet, which will be one of the biggest affairs of its kind ever held by the Fort Wayne Elks. Long tables, charmingly decorated, have been placed in the main auditorium of the Elks' temple, on West Berry street, and covers have been laid for six hundred.

Charles M. Niezer will preside as toastmaster, and the guest of honor will be Grand Exalted Ruler Herrmann, who will be heard in address. Other speakers will include Harry H. Hilgemann, Judge Walter Olds, who, as a member of the class, will speak for the newly initiated brethren, and John W. Eggeman, who will respond for the lodge. There will be vocal selection by Maurice Niezer, Val Ewing and Ed Derheimer during the evening.

SAYS BOYS "KIDDED HIM."

Warsaw Man Learns to His Surprise That He Holds Office.

Warsaw, Ind., Dec. 29.—Joseph F. Hartman, 50 years old, dropped into the office of the county clerk yesterday afternoon and learned for the first time that on Nov. 8, last he was elected as a justice of the peace in Harrison township. 'The boys down near Palestine have been kidding me and calling me "Squire,"' Hartman told Clerk Edwin Stoul, who, on referring to the records, found that the visitor had been elected my a large majority. Hartman was not even aware that his name appeared on the ballots and was surprised to learn that he had voted for himself. He once served as a constable.

WAS HIT BY FAST TRAIN

LIFE IS SNUFFED OUT IN INSTANT

Was En Route to Express Office With Package for His Son.

En route to the express office with a holiday package consigned to his son at Upper Sandusky, Ohio, Alex Probst, 60 years of age, employed as a crossing watchman, was struck by a Pennsylvania train at Monroeville, this county, at 5:30 o'clock this morning and instantly killed.

Probst was struck by the second depot platform some distance away, where it was found some ten minutes after the train had passed by Charles Vince, night fireman for the Monroeville Hoop company, and Frank Cullen, who chanced to pass along the station platform. There was an extensive wound upon the man's skull, but the body was not badly mangled, and a short distance away lay the package with which Probst had started to the express office.

Were Unaware of It.

Probst was struck by th esecond section of train No. 5, westbound, and known as the Pennsylvania limited. It does not stop at Monroeville, and trainmen were unaware that the man had been hit until they reached Fort Wayne. The accident occurred about one hundred feet east of the depot, and the man's body was thrown to the north platform. Probst had left home but a few minutes before and intended going to the express office at the depot before he went on duty for the day as a crossing watchman for the Pennsylvania company.

Coroner Kessler arrived from Fort Wayne at 9 o'clock and held an inquest in the case. Probst was born at Dixon October 15, 1850, and entered the service of the railroad company in 1878 as a section hand. Since January 1, 1901, he had been in the crossing watchman service. Probst was a member of the Masonic fraternity and is survived by the wife, two grown sons and three step-children.

The tellers do not expect to complete the count much before January 17, when the miners' annual convention will meet in Columbus, Ohio.

BLACKHANDERS TOSS BOMB.

Failure to Get Money Produces Fresh Outrage in New York.

New York, Dec. 29.—Blackhanders are again believed by the police to be responsible for another of the frequent east side bomb explosions today, which wrecked the grocery store on East 13th street of an Italian who had received threatening letters demanding $2,000. Flying glass caused the painful injury of one woman, an aunt of the proprietor, Geordino Sagano, who with his family lives in the rear of the store. The violent shock created a panic in the tenement and the immediate neighborhood and did several thousand dollars damage to the building and nearby property.

BELIEVES COUNTY OPTION IN DANGER

Rev. N. C. Shirey Says Outlook is That Law Will Be Repealed.

NEED MORE SUPPORT

"I believe that as matters stand at present we are in serious danger of losing the county option law, as I think that the attitude of Governor Marshall, together with the earnest efforts of the liquor men, will make it a very difficult matter to hold the law, unless there is a very decided uprising on the part of the people in opposition to a repeal of the law."

So said Rev. N. C. Shirey, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, in an interview with The Sentinel this morning.

"While the outlook does not appear to be very promising," continued Mr. Shirey, "we have been working hard to have the law retained in our campaign in the interest of petitions, signed by the voters of the different counties of the state, protesting against any repeal of the law. These petitions will start to coming in to the head office of the Anti-Saloon league at Indianapolis next week, and will be presented to the new legislature without delay, as the liquor interests are preparing to make their fight the first week the legislature is in session.

Campaign With Petitions.

"While the campaign in the interest of the petitions has resulted very favorably in some of the counties, in others it has not met with as good success. My district, taken as a whole, is pretty solid, as there are sixteen representatives in my district and ten of them are dry. Kosciusko and Elkhart counties, which are in this district, will not make much of a showing, though both are strongly temperance. The reason for this is that the people in these counties think that they have already shown their sentiments, and that there is nothing more to be gained by sending their petitions to the legislature. Other counties say that while they may have manifested the sentiment in favor of temperance, they will protest anyway against any repeal of the law. If the balance of the state was as solid as this district we would have nothing to fear, but this is not the case, as there are several portions where there is a weak foothold.

The Weak Spot.

"The weakest section is in the region around Lake Michigan, and this practically embraces Lake county and Laporte county. Two of the strongest counties are Noble and Wabash counties, which I visited not long ago. Noble county went dry at the last election with a majority of 400 and Wabash county by about 735. The voters of the county say that if another election was held that Noble county would go dry by 1,000 and Wabash by 2,500, and that they only wish the liquor men would hold another election. I was at Kendallville a few days ago, and while in conversation with Rev. A. J. Arricks, of Kendallville, he told me what the closing down of saloons had done for that city. Rev. Arricks said that just a day or two previous to my visit he had met the president of one of the leading banks on the street and that he had told him that the banks of the city in the past year had increased their deposits $100,000. He then went into one of the leading stores and asked the proprietor how charge business was compared with a year ago. The merchant stated that he guessed it was about the same, but that he would look it up and find out. On doing so he found that he had $10,000 less on the books than the year before.

Domestic Help Scarce.

"Leaving the store he met one of the prominent women of the city on the street, and while talking to her she complained of the scarcity of domestic help as compared with a year ago, and stated that she thought it was due to the closing of saloons, as in the past married women had been compelled to work out, while now their husbands supported them and there was no need for them to do so.

"We are still giving considerable attention to the interstate commerce law, which is intended to prevent the nullification of state prohibition laws by the United States government. This bill has been in the hands of the judiciary committee for many months and the committee has been holding it up. If we can once get it out of the committee's hands and before congress we are confident that it will unquestionably pass."

O'KEEFE NOT IN CITY LAST NIGHT

Chicago American Says He Has Retired from Game for Good.

HIS EYESIGHT GONE

In the Chicago American of today is an editorialnote attached to a telegrant under a Fort Wayne date line to the effect that Jack O'Keefe did not fight here last night. It says that the promoters had him billed, but some one slipped in a ringer in his stead.

W. H. Knapp, of the St. Joe Athletic club, said he knew nothing of the matter and supposed that the club had presented O'Keefe until he read the article. William Miller, who arranged the match, could not be seen nor could Perry I. Stahl, a member of the committee in charge of the matchmaking department of the club.

A feature story by Ed Smith, sporting editor of the Chicago American, appears on the sport page of the paper in which he says that Jack O'Keefe has lost the sight of one of his eyes, the other is failing and that he has retired from the game.

He calls attention to the fact that he had been matched to meet Holzhauer here, but that two weeks ago he notified the club management that he could not fulfill the engagement and at the same time said he was through with fighting. Mr. Smith is one of the best boxing authorities in the country.

The loss of sight came from a blow received several years ago while he was training in the west for a fight with Billy Melody. The blow was struck by one of his sparring partners.

BOY'S CASE PUZZLES.

Idiotic, Deaf and Mute, He Knows Enough to Steal Money.

Douglas, Ariz., Dec. 29.—A puzzle to the courts of justice and immigration officers here is the case of a boy of about seventeen years of age, arrested on a charge of stealing money from a locker of the Copper Queen smelter. The defendant, supposed to be Conrad Moleno, cannot read or write and is a deaf mute. He is apparently an Indian-Mexican from Honduras and knows only the most primeval signs, indicating the need of food and sleep. All efforts have failed to make him understand the charge against him.

Judge Rice, before whom he appeared, entered a pela of not guilty and then, for lack of any law governing the case, discharged the prisoner, who was then turned over to the immigration authorities. Now these officials cannot prove the prisoner is an alien so he is on their hands awaiting instructions from Washington.

WILL PLAY ON MUDDY FIELD.

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 29.—With prospects of a muddy field the football team composed of Harvard law students, reinforced by players from the graduate departments of other eastern colleges and universities will play a team made up of representatives of various southern colleges here this afternoon. The Harvard line-up probably will include Crumpacker, of Michigan; Parks, of Yale; Hoar, of Nebraska, and Moore and Pfeiffer, of Princeton.

THAW'S DEBTS PAID.

Pittsburg, Dec. 29.—Harry Kendall Thaw, who killed Stanford White, was discharged from bankruptcy by Judge Chas. P. Orr in the United States district court here today. The order was signed after a motion had been presented by former Governor Wm. A. Stone, counsel for trustee Roger O'Mara, and carried with it "Thaw's discharge from all debts and claims made payable against his estate and which existed Aug. 7, 1907."

BANISHES THE DISORDERLIES.

Gary, Ind., Dec. 29.—Following the wholesale indictment and arrest of members of the city administration, including Mayor Thomas E. Knotts, for alleged election irregularities, orders were issued direct from Mayor Knott's office office today all inmates of resorts will have to leave Gary this afternoon or be subject to arrest. This, it is said, is the first order in the nature of a reform to come from the mayor's office.

ICE GORGE BREAKS.

Evansville, Ind., Dec. 29.—The ice gorge at Wolf Creek, which has tied up the middle Ohio river navigation for several days, broke today, clearing the river at this point.

DUPPS' WIFE TO FIGHT THE CASE

Says Husband Secured Deed to Lot and She Asks Support.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

In the superior court today Mary M. E. Dupps filed an affidavit in which she began a fight against the divorce suit instituted a short time ago by her husband, Louis L. Dupps. The husband says in his complaint that she ran away with his brother and lived with him in Los Angeles and that she has been unfaithful and the brother is made co-respondent.

She charges that her husband drove her from home, that she has no means of support, but has a meritorious case and will be able to show it on the trial. She asks an order to prevent him from disposing of his property or drawing his wages from the Packard company. A. E. Houk filed the suit.

Case is Compromised.

WOULD CURTAIL PRODUCTION.

Tobacco Men and Equity Society to Discuss Burley Crop.

Lexinfiton, Ky., Dec. 29.—Development here today appeared to indicate that when the general convention of the Burley tobacco growers of Kentucky, Ohio, Missouri, Indiana and West Virginia meets in Lexington on Jan. 5, the members of the Burley Tobacco society and the tobacco branch of the American Society of Equity will make strenuous objection to producing a crop in 1911.

The object of the general convention is to organize burley producers of these five states into a great body to control the price and acreage of tobacco. Delegates will be chosen at meetings all over the tobacco districts of these states tomorrow.

The objectors of the plan to raise tobacco next year say the old burley society has 80,000 hogsheads of the 1909 pool yet unsold, while the 1910 crop which has not been pooled, is practically untouched and that another crop on top of these would ruin the market. They will ask that the crop be abandoned in 1911 and one be raised in 1912. Growers who produce about three hundred million pounds of tobacco annually will be affected directly or indirectly by the new organization.

NEW YEAR'S GIFT IS $80,000.

Promised Richard Parr for Discovering Sugar Frauds in New York.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Richard Parr, the customs detective who discovered the steel springs in the scales on the American Sugar Refining company's dock at Williamsburg and furnished most of the evidence through which more than $3,000,000 has been returned to the federal treasury, will get his reward as a New Year's greeting. Parr's moiety was $100,000 for his work. He was paid $20,000 some time ago, but the treasury had no more funds to complete payment. The urgency deficiency bill passed by congress carried an item of $80,000, and of that $80,000 will go to Parr. Secretary MacVeagh will sign a warrant this week transferring the money to Collector Loeb, of New York, who will be able to pay Parr before New Year's day.

HE RODE ON THE SEAT, HE DID.

Evansville, Ind., Dec. 29.—Owen Sandefur, a Kentuckian, climbed upon the seat of Driver Walter Cook's taxicab, and when he was told that the place for him was inside, he pressed a revolver against the driver's ribs, saying, "Oh no. ALDRICH GRABS MALAY RUBBER

American Trust Has Gathered in More and Now Rules World.

ALDRICH TARIFF AIDS

San Francisco, Dec. 29.—Peter Archibold Grimes, a rubber magnate of India, who is in the city, has just received information from Singapore that the Continental Rubber company, which is controlled by Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, and which is a part of the United States Rubber company—the "rubber trust"—has gained control of four of the biggest rubber plantations in the federated Malay states and has plans laid to break the rubber market of Europe, aided by the tariff wall of the United States.

Mr. Grimes owns stock in all four of the companies concerned and declares that he intends to return to Singapore at once and demand that the merger be dissolved. He says the concessions granted the rubber planters by the government forbid mergers and that it is impossible to get a monopoly of any of the products of the protectorate.

Big Companies Merged.

"There are some 200 odd rubber companies in the Malay states," said Mr. Grimes. "As to how many of the companies are in the merger I do not know, but my information is that the Salamgore company, the Serambam company, the Singapore and Johore company and the Linggi Plantation company, limited, the four biggest ones, which produce 14 per cent. of the world's supply of crude rubber, have been taken over by the Continental.

"If this company, which is a part of the trust, gets control of the rubber of the Malay states, which produces nearly half of the world's supply, the trust will be ready to break the European market and cripple the Belgium companies, which get their rubber from the Congo.

"Control of the price will be possible on account of the high American tariff. The trust will get a high price in the United States and will be able to sell so cheap in Europe that European companies will not be able to compete with it.

Far East Knows Aldrich.

"The Continental is not a manufacturing company; it gets the rubber for the United States Rubber company. The rubber planters of the Malay states know that the United States company and the Continental company have the power to fix the tariff, and in this connection Aldrich's name is as well known as his company. It is known to the planters that Aldrich and members o his family are the controlling powers on the continent.

"The British government will not allow any combination to take over the rubber industry. The tin trust merger was broken up.

"There are many native stockholders in these rubber companies, they having been persuaded to give up their lands for the planting of rubber trees. They are getting their dividends now and the government always protects the natives against exploitating companies.

"The Continental, under the name of the British Malaysian Rubber company, capitalized at $10,000,000, has a concession in Sarawak and a big plant there. The supply comes from the wild trees of Borneo, and as they are cut down, the Borneo supply is bound to run short. So the Continental plans to get its products from the Malay states.

Declares Countryman Shot Him After Making False Accusations.

Logansport, Ind., Dec. 29.—At St. Joseph's hospital yesterday afternoon John Gudice, an Italian, thought to be dying from two bullet wounds received Tuesday night, told County Prosecutor Custer and Chief of Police Morris that Dominico Anacondel, his landlord, shot him. When shot Gudice told the attending physician that he shot himself by accident as he was cleaning his gun. By the time the physicians discovered the second shot, which had penetrated the right lung, Gudice was unconscious. He recovered consciousness about noon yesterday and was at once questioned by the authorities. Gudice says Anacondel wronfully accused him of being too intimate with Mrs. Anacondel and shot him twice. Anacondel cannot be found and Mrs. Anacondel denies any knowledge of the shooting or its cause.

BANKER ROBIN IS UNDER INDICTMENT

Grand Jury in New York Returns True Bill for Grand Larceny.

ROBIN'S BAIL FIXED

New York, Dec. 29.—The grand jury this afternoon handed down an indictment against Joseph G. Robin, whose financial transactions are alleged to be responsible for the closing of the Northern bank, of New York, on Tuesday last.

The indictment specifically charges Robin with the larceny of $80,000 from the Northern bank.

The indictment was handed down to Judge Crain, of the court of general sessions. Former District Attorney Jerome, who is Robin's counsel, announced that he has already informed District Attorney Whitman as to the whereabouts of the indicted man. He said there was some doubt as to the mental and physical condition of Mr. Robin and asked that two detectives be sent to the man's home and formally place him under arrest. Then he asked that Robin be not brought to court until tomorrow, so as to allow physicians to examine the man and determine his condition.

Judge Crain fixed bail temporarily at $25,000 and Robin will be arraigned tomorrow if his condition is deemed satisfactory.

CAPTAIN STORY BADLY BURNED.

Salvation Army Commandant Here Has Painful Accident.

As the result of an explosion of gas in the furnace at the Salvation Army Citadel, on East Washington boulevard, Wednesday morning, Captain Beatrice Story, at the head of the local organization, was badly burned and has been confined to her bed as the result of her injuries.

The accident occurred about 6:30 o'clock in the morning, and was caused by gas accumulating in the furnace over night. Captain Storey went down in the cellar to stir up the fire, and when she opened the door and started to poke the coals, the flames shout out through the furnace door, enveloping the left side of her head, burning off most of the hair, and scorching her on the left side of the face, and on the left arm and hand. Blinded by the heat and smoke, and choking from the fumes of gas from the furnace, Captain Storey managed to reach another room in the cellar, and to get upstairs to her quarters without assistance. Lieutenant Allsopp, who also lives at the citadel, temporarily dressed Captain Storey's burns and then summoned Dr. Mikesell, who pronounced the burns serious but not dangerous, saying that in all probability they would not leave any scars.

Mother is So Educating Child and the Father Asks for Her Custody.

Portland, Ind., Dec. 29.—In the circuit court before Judge D. D. Heller the matter of the petition of Dr. William H. Walker, seeking the custody of his daughter, Queenie Walker, was up for issue. The case had been set for trial Tuesday, but following the making of issues the trial was continued until Jan. 12. The Walker child is now with her mother, Mrs. Bertha G. Walker, at Kansas City, Mo., having been taken there soon after a decree of divorce was granted Dr. Walker by Judge J. F. LaFollette during his last term of court.

At the time the decree was granted the child was turned over to the custody of the mother, the latter being prohibited from taking her away from the jurisdiction of this court and ordered to send her to school. The father claims that the child's education is being neglected and that the mother has informed her that a common school education is unnecessary and that she will train her for an actress.

TOOK TIME BY FORELOCK.

Warsaw Dealer Has Got His Ice Houses Filled.

Warsaw, Ind., Dec. 29.—John Collins, the veteran ice man of Warsaw, figured about right this year. He started to pack as soon as the ice reached a thickness of six inches, which he considers is a very satisfactory thickness for general purposes. By crowding the work as rapidly as possible he managed to fill his houses by Tuesday evening and so will not suffer from the warm weather and the rain which has damaged the present crop of ice. Most of his pack will average a little over seven inches thick.

The other dealers who take their ice from the lakes around Warsaw were just preparing to start work when the thaw came and they will be forced to wait for a second period of cold weather.

A SIMPLE SAFEGUARD FOR MOTHERS.

Mrs. D. Gilkeson, 326 Ingles Ave., Youngstown, Ohio, gained wisdom by experience. "My little girl had a severe cold and coughed almost continuously. My sister recommended Foley's Honey and Tar. The first dose I gave her relieved the inflammation in her throat and after using only one bottle her throat and lungs were entirely free from inflammation. Since then I always keep a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar in the house. Accept no substitutes. Dreier & Bro.

The Adventures of Mr. Peter Ruff

BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

"Ill Blows the Wind that Profits Nobody"

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THE PEARSON PUBLISHING CO.

Ruff, who had been making figures with a pencil on the edge of his blotting-paper, suddenly turned round. His eyes flashed with a new light as they became fixed upon his companion's.

"And are you not?" he asked calmly.

Sir Richard bore himself well. For a moment he had shrunk back. Then he half rose to his feet.

"Mr. Ruff!" he said. "I must protest——"

"Stop!"

Peter Ruff used no violent gesture. Only his forefinger tapped the desk in front of him. His voice was as smooth as velvet.

"Tell me as much or as little as you please, Sir Richard," he said, "but let that little or that much be the truth! On those terms only I may be able to help you. You do not go to your physician and expect him to prescribe to you whilst you conceal your symptoms, or to your lawyer for advice and tell him half the truth. I am not asking for your confidence. I simply tell you that you are wasting your time and mine if you choose to withhold it."

Sir Richard was silent. He recognized a new quality in the man—but the truth was an awful thing to tell! He considered—then told.

Ruff briskly asked two questions. "In alluding to your heavy settlement with Masters, you said just now that you could not have paid him—then."

"Quite so," Sir Richard admitted. "That is the rotten part of the whole affair. Four days later a wonderful double came off—one in which we were all interested, and one which not one of us expected. We've drawn a considerable amount already from one or two bookies, and I believe even Masters owes us a bit now."

"Thank you," Ruff said. "I think that I know everything now. My fee is five hundred guineas."

Sir Richard looked at him.

"What?" he exclaimed.

"Five hundred guineas," Ruff repeated.

"For a consultation?" Sir Richard asked.

Peter Ruff shook his head.

"More than that," he said. "You are a brave man in your way, Sir Richard Dyson, but you are going about now shivering under a load of fear. It sits like a devil incarnate upon your shoulders. It poisons the air wherever you go. Write your check, Sir Richard, and you can leave that little black devil in my waste-basket. You are under my protection. Nothing will happen to you."

Sir Richard sat like a man mesmerized. The little man with the amiable expression and the badly-fitting suit was leaning back in his chair, his finger-tips pressed together, waiting.

"Nothing will happen!" Sir Richard repeated, incredulously.

"Certainly not," Ruff declared. "I guarantee you against any inconvenience which might arise to you from this recent unfortunate affair. Isn't that all you want?"

"It's all I want, certainly," Sir Richard declared, "but I must understand a little how you propose to secure my immunity."

Ruff shook his head.

"I have my own methods," he said. "I can help only those who trust me."

Sir Richard drew a check-book from his pocket. "I don't know why I should believe in you," he said, as he wrote the check.

"But you do," Peter Ruff said, smiling. "Fortunately for you, you do!"

* * * * * * * *

It was not so easy to impart a similar confidence into the breast of his friend, Colonel Dickinson, with whom he dined that night tête-à-tête. Dickinson was inclined to think that Sir Richard had been "had."

"You've paid a ridiculous fee," he argued, "and all that you have in return is the fellow's promise to see you through. It isn't like you to part with money so easily, Richard. Did he hypnotize you?"

"I don't think so," Sir Richard answered. "I wasn't conscious of it."

"What sort of a fellow is he?" Dickinson asked.

Sir Richard looked reflectively into his glass.

"He's a vulgar sort of little Johnny," he said. "Looks as though he were always dressed in new clothes and couldn't get used to them."

Three men entered the room. Two remained in the background. John Dory came forward towards the table.

"Sir Richard Dyson," he said, gravely, "I have come upon an unpleasant errand."

"Go on," Sir Richard said, fingering something hard in the inside pocket of his coat.

"I have a warrant for your arrest," Dory continued, "in connection with the disappearance of Job Masters on Saturday, the 10th of November last. I will read the terms of the warrant, if you choose. It is my duty to warn you that anything you may now say can be used in evidence against you. This gentleman, I believe, is Colonel Dickinson?"

"That is my name, sir," Dickinson answered, with unexpected fortitude.

"I regret to say," the detective continued, "that I have also a warrant for your arrest in connection with the same matter."

A fine coon tree was found by Clay Cummins and his cousin, Kirb Cummins, last week. They caught seven coons in the top of the tree and five opossums in the trunk of the tree, and caught three squirrels in the limbs, and it happened to be a bee tree, too.—Fairmont (Ky.) Pendletonian.

THE WICKED FLEE.

Judge Blair appears to have the wicked denizens of Adams county, in Ohio, badly on the run. Already the grand jury has indicted a thousand citizens for selling their votes and the officers of the court have brought in hundreds on warrants. Many of them have entered pleas of guilty and taken their medicine, a rather mild though doubtless efficacious dose. The entire male citizenship of the county appears to have been imbibing of the panic waters. Scores of men who have not been indicted have walked into court, confessed their guilt and heard their diploma. Principals of the high schools doom. Verily the wicked flee when no man pursueth. But confession does not confine itself to crimes against the ballot. A variety of offenses against the law and transgressions against society are voluntarily admitted. The Judge, who knows his people, has taken the attitude of a father confessor and is bringing out all sorts of naughty deeds from selling votes down to the dispensation of ardent liquors. Adams county is washing its face clear back behind its ears and when this crusade is ended, as it does not appear likely to be very soon, Ohio will have one community fully purged of its sins, the penances discharged and legal absolution granted. It has been a strange disclosure and one that despite the gravity of conditions uncovered has been invested to a high degree with the ludicrous. It shows how thin is the veneer of civilization, how weak are ethical restraints and how impotent are moral systems against a current of wrongdoing that sweeps in such fashion as to touch the unstable feet of all and to bear them on its tides. Corrupt practices had become so common as to make them seem inoffensive. Just all that Judge Blair will have succeeded in disclosing before he reaches the end can be only a guess. It is a solemn situation with a laughable investiture of incidents and circumstances.

WARRING ON THE "FRAT."

The school board of Indianapolis has resorted to the drastic to purge the public school system of that city of the "frat" nuisance. It has unanimously passed a resolution that any high school student who after February 1 next shall hold membership in any secret fraternity will forfeit his have been notified of the resolution and directed to act accordingly. The board expresses the belief that this action either will abolish the public school fraternities or bring on the repeal of the Indiana statute which outlaws them.

There has been in most Indiana cities a sincere effort to abolish the "frat" nuisance. High school principals and teachers all over the land are almost unanimous in denouncing these secret societies as of bad influence, and hurtful effect. Indiana was given a legislative enactment putting them under ban of the law. That had much effect, but it did not wipe out the evil. What was once done in the open came to be done in secret. Means of evading the law were not specially difficult and young gentlemen and young ladies of high school years and dignities hesitated not in many cases to "perjure themselves like gentlemen," not to spare themselves—bless you, no—but the others. So the "frat" has endured if not flourished in many of the high schools of the state. Indianapolis has had perhaps more trouble than other cities. It is strange but it is true that there, and in some other communities, has been presented the spectacle of parents openly abetting their offspring in contumacy, rebellion and lawlessness. And this in amazing despite of the fact that the primary purpose of the public school system is to train the citizenship of the republic.

It is to be hoped that good sense, true democracy and the statutes of Indiana may prove an efficacious coalition of forces for the extirpation of the "frat" evil. The Indianapolis school authorities appear determined and they will have the moral and no doubt other support of the whole community of the state.

The beneficent Mr. Aldrich is set forth in the dispatches as having in the interest of the rubber trust secured control of the Malay output of the precious gum and that with this recent acquisition the big combine will have control of the supply of the world. It was by most suspected, by many believed and by Senator Bristow charged that the rubber schedule of the last tariff law was manipulated by Senator Aldrich directly in his own behalf. Senator Aldrich denied and put the Jayhawk senator under distressing compulsion to show that the Rhode Island rubber and legislation magnate had the goods on him. The latest reports in rubber affairs seem to disclose that Mr. Aldrich knew what he was about all the while.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer is out with a very cocky letter in reply to Sir Hiram Maxim's statement that the kind of smokeless powder used on this side is responsible for the frequent accidental explosions. The dapper secretary chirps out right boldly and proud he does us, too. But maybe he will tell us, just for home consumption, why it is that during the past decade accidental explosions on American warships have been more numerous and have cost more lives and maimed more men than in the like period have been true of all the rest of the world's navies together.

Congressman Nick Longworth is drafting a bill for a permanent commission and some hope is expressed that it may be put through congress at the present session. The measure is said to be very largely an adaptation of Senator Beveridge's tariff commission bill. With a democratic house coming on and a democratic senate and administration in prospect, even the moss-grown reactionary and the case-hardened standpatter can endure the tariff commission proposal without throwing fits.

Mr. Nat Goodwin seems to be already on his joyous way once more to a divorce court. "Why will women marry Nat Goodwin?" asked someone the last time. Let inquest be held on the puzzle, why won't women live with Nat Goodwin?

Other counties in Ohio are said to be in quite the same state of commercialized suffrage as that uncovered in Adams county. Goodness! Likewise, mercy! Maybe Ohio is not the only commonwealth in which such things can be!

Among other harmonic suggestions is Hon. James A. Hemenway for republican national chairman. The ex-senator might not be a very aggressive harmonizer, but none could ever say of him that drove any away.

AT THE MAJESTIC

"THE ROSARY"

At the Majestic Today and Friday and Saturday—Daily Matinees.

This beautiful new play, "The Rosary," under the direction of Rowland and Clifford, opened at the Majestic this afternoon for an engagement of 3 days. This play recently closed a three months' engagement in Chicago.

This modern play, written by Edward E. Rose, and produced by the well known theatrical managers, Messrs. Rowland and Clifford, deals with the divorce evil. Quietly and modestly, with no blaze of trumpets, it projects a quiet word into the turmoil of opinions upon this great social issue and many believe the play will revolutionize the ethics of marriage and divorce.

"The Rosary" takes you into the heart of a typical American family. It shows the peace and happiness there, then suddenly unmasks the canker spot—lack of faith in the husband. Slowly, little by little, is seen this devastating power of atheism; how it saps the strength and melts the will, so that when doubt and suspicion creep in they find the soil fertile for their direct descendants, hatred and revenge, and the home goes down to ruin with a crash. Then comes the spiritual power of a great man, a priest, whose life is given to mankind. Slowly, by sheer faith he analyzes the situation and leads the two forth, the husband and wife whom he loves, out of the darkness of their despair to happiness and peace.

That is "The Rosary" and the discussions that will follow its production will do much to clear the smoke of idle theories from this tremendous question which undermines the happiness and well being of every American home.

"My Cinderella Girl."

When William Norris' "My Cinderella Girl" comes to the Majestic on Monday, matinee and night, the people of this city will have an opportunity to see the attraction that broke the record for a musical play in Chicago. It ran for 300 nights to packed houses. This piece is a farce dealing with college life and base ball, and not only offers much hilarious fun, but has a prize beauty chorus with the organization, and a dozen musical numbers offered throughout the run of the story.

"The City" Next Week.

Clyde Fitch's last play, "The City," which the Messrs. Shubert are sending to the Majestic theater next Tuesday and Wednesday and Wednesday matinee, has occasioned more discussion than any purely American play, due in the main to the interest-impelling story and the phase of village and city life which is presented in a manner likely to arouse debate.

"A posthumous play by Clyde Fitch, "The City," showing the lure of a great metropolis, has made a sensation, and most people, inferring from the title only, might take it as another indictment of city life, which it is not. The age-old attack upon the town as compared with the country persists, but is it justified by either history or observation?"

William Faversham.

"The Faun," which William Faversham will present here on Thursday night, was not only written especially for his use by Edward Knoblauch, but Mr. Faversham himself was the means of suggesting the story to the dramatist. One day, four years ago, Mr. Knoblauch visited Mr. Faversham at his summer home in Surry. He discovered the actor one day playing with some children in the woods. He had covered himself with leaves and branches with the result that Mr. Knoblauch at first thought he was a faun disporting himself. The idea of writing a play around a faun and with a faun as a theme was immediately born in the dramatist's mind. Within a fortnight Mr. Knoblauch informed Mr. Faversham that he had devised a story which he thought sure would make a most novel play. Last winter when Mr. Faversham was appearing in New York he was surprised to have a call from the dramatist, whose home is in London. He tossed the play on Mr. Faversham's desk and said: "Here is your play. 'The Faun.'" Mr. Faversham read the play that night and contracted for its production the next day. He has been at work preparing this play for the stage for several months. Mr. Knoblauch has come from England to assist Mr. Faversham in the work.

The Latin Will Overcome the Anglo-Saxon in this Country in a Few Years—

unless you wake up. About one million Southern Europeans are coming here every year. Our birth rate decreases. The foreigners' birth rate increases. A big proportion of the immigrants are undesirable—very undesirable. These soon become voters. Men who need votes see to that. Mark this. If we don't begin to really exclude undesirable immigration, the Anglo-Saxon in this Government will be submerged. What we can do about it is told in Pearson's Magazine, now on sale, by Mary Grace Quackenbos. She suggests a simple plan for excluding undesirables. Only public opinion can make it effective. Nothing is more important to your prosperity. Read this article. It shows also what may be done in properly distributing desirable immigrants.

DISPATCHERS IN FORT WAYNE NOW

THREE MEN AT WORK

With a telephonic receiver and trasmitting device clamped about his head, his eyes intent upon his record of train movements, his order sheets and his timepiece, in a little office remotely located on the second floor of the traction terminal building at Pearl and Harrison streets, there now sits the man who directs the movement of interurban cars operating between Fort Wayne and Bluffton and Fort Wayne and Peru.

He is the interurban train dispatcher, and his department was transferred to Fort Wayne from Huntington Wednesday night. His office is purposely located so that there can be no interruption from visitors. It is accessible only after passing through several other offices, and the door is always kept securely locked, save when the dispatchers themselves enter or leave the room by means of keys which they carry. The work of the train dispatcher is one which must not be annoyed by interruption, and he must not have his attention distracted by visitors. Before him is a unique map of the interurban system, accurately drawn to scale, as an aid to the dispatcher in directing his train movements, and there is a maze of telephonic and other electrical connections in his office.

Three dispatchers are required for the service, and some one of them is on duty constantly. M. E. Emerson, the chief dispatcher, has the "trick" from 6 o'clock a. m. to 12 o'clock noon. He is then relieved by C. M. White, who is on duty from noon until 9 o'clock at night, and then D. R. Fetters comes on duty to remain until 6 o'clock a. m.

W. A. Frymire, W. E. VanBuskirk and R. J. Elson, who have been on duty in the dispatchers' office at Bluffton, will be retained as extra dispatchers, meanwhile taking their old positions in the road service.

Until Saturday night we will sell 100 dozen of our 50c four-in-hand ties at 25c each.

JUDGE NOT ABLE TO SETTLE CASE

Can't Find Out Who Cut Todaic's Hand in a Boarding House Row.

CITY COURT CASES

The question of who cut Nick Todaic's hand in a Force street boarding house row Monday night promises to take its place along with those relative to the killing of Sam Augspurger and the firing of Swope's barn, as Judge Mungovan has taken three hitches at the matter and is still at sea.

Todaic is there with the carved mitt, all right, and that's as near the answer as the court can get. The injured man don't know who did it. Anton Buetermann, keeper of the boarding house, is under arrest but says he didn't do it, but that his wife did. The wife says she did not and none of the half dozen boarders knows a thing about it.

Five kegs and a couple of cases of beer served to confuse the ideas of the principals and the other boarders, and the hearing was continued a week longer in the hope that some testimony of value may be obtained.

Mohler Drew Term.

Sherman Mohler, who sat around his home at 405 Bass street and watched his wife work at the washtub to support him, drew $5 and costs and thirty days. He is the fellow who quit a job not long ago to watch his wife, saying that she would not stay at home while he was away.

Stevens Sent Over.

William Stevens was sent over under a fine of $5 and costs and a sentence of thirty days for stealing some brass from the Wabash shops.

Cases Continued.

William Ragon, Harry Richards, Tillman Shaw and Fred Aubrey, who declined to comply with the order of the board of safety instructing them to remove their express wagons from the street, had their cases continued until tomorrow morning.

TEACHERS' LICENSES.

Some Changes Made by New State Superintendent.

Chas. A. Greathouse, the state superintendent of public instruction for Indiana, has sent to County School Superintendent H. G. Felger notice of some changes that have been made in regard to the licenses of teachers. The first change is in reference to the securing of a sixty months' license. Hereafter it will not be considered that that examination is taken in two divisions, but anyone securing a thirty-six months state common school license will be eligible to take an examination in the high school subjects necessary to entitle him to a sixty months' license, providing both examinations are taken in the same calendar year.

Hereafter all applicants for a high school license will be required to pass an examination in the Science of Education. A high school license in one or more subjects may be issued for 12, 24, or 36 months, according to the grades earned. Questions for common school license and for primary license will be printed on the same sheet each month.

IT WILL BE A JOINT MEETING

Commercial Club and Labor Federation United in the Call.

NEW GOVERNMENT UP

P. A. Randall, president of the Commercial club, and L. D. Redding, president of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor, have joined in the call for a meeting of these two organizations, as well as the public generally, to be held at the court house assembly room at 8 o'clock this evening.

The commission form of city government will be the topic under discussion. Mr. Redding will preside, and the subject will be presented by C. R. Lane, who will outline the form briefly, and by B. Paul Mossman, who will tell of some of the accomplishments that might fairly be expected under the new form. Others will also be heard briefly, and the meeting will be one of much interest and great importance. The general public is cordially invited to be present.

The purpose of the meeting is to invite a general discussion of the new type of city government which is rapidly gaining favor in many localities, and for which the coming legislature will undoubtedly be asked to pass an enabling act that will permit Indiana cities to adopt it if they so desire.

SOCIETY

About one hundred young people, both college boys and young girls home from school, were guests this afternoon between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Harry Bowser, in Thomas street. The reception was given by Mrs. Bowser, Miss Verne and Miss Mildred Bowser in honor of two young ladies who are school friends of the Misses Bowser in Washington, D. C. The honor guests were Miss Edna Minsinger, of Portland, Ore., and Miss Gladys Walker, of Grand Rapids, Mich. The rooms all presented a beautiful appearance with the holiday decorations of holly and green, including a handsomely trimmed Christmas tree. Added to the greens were bouquets of American beauty and Richmond roses and many white candles. In the dining room, where Mrs. Leland Johnson and Mrs. Jules C. Simon presided, were served coffee, ices and cake. The table was very attractive. The bowl holding the ice cream was surrounded with a wreath of smilax and roses that stood on a cluny lace lunch cover, and white candles were unshaded and formed a pretty contrast to the brightness of the flowers and green. Two little girls who assisted in ushering guests into the house were Lillian Polhamus and Olga Welch. They were dressed in white and wore red hair ribbons and sashes. Miss Schnefer, of Grand Rapids, was an out of town guest who attended the reception, which was the largest affair of the season at a private residence.

* * *

Pink roses and stevia in a colonial glass bowl for the center of the table, formed the principal part of the decoration at the luncheon which Mrs. John W. White gave today for her daughter, Miss Dorothy, and to which twenty young girl friends were invited. Other appointments were elegant and the softened light through rose shades lent further prettiness to the affair. The guests were Misses Virginia Olds, Elizabeth Porter, Helen Kelly, Helen Morris, Margery Pickard, Helen Caldwell, Maribel Olds, Adele Frankel, Margery Fisher, Geraldine Bulson, Josephine Fleming, Martha Tolan, Phillis Randall, Enid Johnson, Marguerite Bicknell, Irma Poole, Helen Magee, Carlotta McKinnie, Mildred Saylor, Gladys Hughes, Mrs. Frank Walter, Miss Janet Berolzheimer, of Chicago.

* * *

Mrs. Tom McKenzie, of New York city, who is visiting here for several weeks, has been shown much social attention, but no prettier party than was given by Mrs. John G. Klett, of Cass street, this afternoon when she entertained players for three tables at bridge. The house was decorated with holly, red bells, candles and flowers. The green of the holiday season was brightened by both red and yellow, the latter color appearing in bows of maline tied to the candlesticks which held red candles. At supper each guest found an individual candlestick at her plate that held a red candle and favors of red carnations. There were more carnations and Richmond roses in vases about the rooms and the bright colors appeared in the menu for supper. The guests other than Mrs. McKenzie were Mrs. George Loesch, Mrs. Fred Hoham, Mrs. C. F. Kettler, Mrs. John Wilkens, Mrs. H. W. Pierce, Mrs. John McKean, Mrs. M. G. Flagle, Mrs. Minnie Yergens, Mrs. Henry Ropa, Mrs. Charles Spanley and Miss Frankie Lehr.

* * *

Mrs. Thomas J. Twining left yesterday for a visit of some weeks in Lewisburg, Pa.

Miss Clara Hansen, of Muncie, is visiting Miss Bernadine Violand, of Washington boulevard east.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Michael, jr., of Chicago, are visiting Mr. Michael's parents in this city.

Miss Irene Lepper will entertain friends at cards at her home in East Wayne street, on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. E. N. Blewend has returned from Cleveland where she was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Pilkin and family.

Miss Elsie Kettler, of 138 East Wayne street, returned to Indianapolis today to resume her studies in kindergarten work.

Mr. and Mrs. Kress, of Chicago, are visiting Mrs. Kress' parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Kenline, of 221 West Superior street.

The date for the Scottish Rite ball is the sixth of January and not the thirtieth of this month, as inadvertently stated in The Sentinel of yesterday.

Miss Alice Rabus and Miss Virginia Joost have issued invitations to a watch party they will give at the hme of Miss Rabus, on New Year's eve.

Mrs. Edmund Miller was at home yesterday afternoon at her residence in West Creighton avenue, in honor of her brother, Ewing Bond, who is at home from Michigan university for the holidays. The guests were college friends of the honor guest. Mrs. C. E. Bond assisted her daughter in serving refreshments.

The Monday Night Dancing club, one of the oldest organizations of its kind in the city, which has for several years met twice each month during the winter season at the Hanker academy, has arranged for what it terms a "home coming" in connection with the meeting next Monday evening. Invitations have been extended to all former members of the class and their friends and the event promises to be an unusually pleasant one.

Dr. and Mrs. I. A. McAlister and daughter, Betsy, will return to the United States on January 13, after a two and a half years' sojourn in the Philippines and a two months' tour in China and Japan. They will first visit with the father and brother of Dr. McAlister in Logan, Utah, and then will go directly to New York city, where they will visit for some weeks with A. A. Furman and R. R. Furman, father and brother of Mrs. McAlister.

One of the prettiest of holiday luncheons was the one given yesterday by Miss Marian Martz, of West Jefferson street. The table was beautifully decorated with Richmond roses, ferns and red candles and the house was bright with Christmas decorations of red bells, holly and a tree. Each of the guests received favors of red carnations. Covers were laid for eight. Miss Martz will give another party on Saturday.

Mrs. Lulu Kintz Bassett gave a pretty party yesterday afternoon in honor of her small nephew, Delbert Kintz, at her home, 917 Archer avenue. It was a birthday party and the children enjoyed the customary good time, playing games and having a birthday supper with a frosted cake among the goodies. The guests were Harry Stoler, Clifford Curtis, Russell Jones, Dorothy, Elma and Marguerite Kintz, Delora and Margaret Jones, Bertha Crowl and Margaret Lorgan, of Warren.

Miss Beatrice Baltes entertained a number of school friends and playmates yesterday at her home in Harrison street. Holly wreaths, Christmas greens and a tree with all its holiday trimmings gave the rooms a party appearance and a Santa Claus at supper time made the children happy, merely as a matter of remembrance. Favors found at supper were white muffs of candy and red candles lighted the table and helped make everything as pretty as could be. The guests of Miss Beatrice at this happy time were Marie Centlivre, Ruth Keenan, Katherine Golden, Marie Webber, Esther Centlivre, Zylpha Carter, Hazel Crill, Margaret Costigan, Jane McCarthy, Catherine Carroll and Rosalie Weil.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Close were at home on Monday afternoon and evening for a number of their friends who called to extend the good wishes of the day. Many remained several hours playing games and there was music, a Christmas tree and an excellent supper at 6 o'clock, all of which afforded the guests great pleasure. After the supper there was more music and game in which the children in the company had a lively part. One of the games was forming impromptu quartets and singing a song that had been named by uniting letters on cards that had been passed around. The hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Close resulted in one of the merriest gatherings in celebration of Christmas.

Master Harold Koerber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Koerber, of 209 West Creighton avenue, reached his fourth birth anniversary on yesterday and had a few small friends in to spend the afternoon with him in celebration of the day. A number of the children were accompanied by their mothers, so Mrs. Koerber had as good a time visiting with them as the children had with each other. Games were the order of the afternoon. Pink roses, pink candles, pink baskets of pink and white candies and pink favors, as well as a big birthday cake were some of the things which made the party pretty to see and delightful to the company. Harold's friends were Louise Welker, Marcella Klingman, Lois Schonbein, Marcella Rolf, Marcella Koerber, Robert and Charles Kensill, Carl Stier, Robert Koerber, jr., Virginia Ropa, Franklin Koons, Carl Mackwitz, Marcella Kirkhoff, Irene Koerber.

Success of every kind was significant of the Assembly dance held last night in the ballroom of Anthony Wayne clubhouse. The hall was not decorated other than with the assembly of pretty young women in modish customes, but there was the best of music and a supper later in the evening for the pleasure of the participants. Among the guests from out of town were Miss Desdemona Bearss, of Peru; Miss Helen Van Slyke, of Oakland, Cal.; Miss Geraldine Sembower, of Garrett; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bauer, of Cleveland; Miss Margaret Morehouse, of Danville, Ill.; Miss Mary Staly, of Joliet, Ill.; Mrs. George Sunderland, of Chicago; Miss Hazel Agnew, of Boston, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kinnaird, of Des Moines, Ia.; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bursley, of Ann Arbor; C. L. Olds, jr., of Boston, Mass.; E. M. Langley, of Valparaiso; Rex Condit, of Gary, and Messrs. Eurich and Whidden, college friends of Miles and James Porter, who are visiting here during the holidays.

The guests at the Phi Delta Kappa dance in Minuet hall last evening enjoyed the decorations arranged for Charity ball the night previous as much as though they had been put up for their own special gratification. It could hardly be otherwise, for the loveliness of the smilax and poinsetta arrangement were acknowledged by all. The Phi Delta Kappas always have a good time, so do their friends, and the dancing party of this season had an attendance of nearly two hundred young men and women, with a sprinkling of older and married people present to give chaperonage to the occasion. In addition to the floral decorations were many banners and college pennants. The programs were especially handsome souvenirs of the evening. The cards were embossed in Greek letters in gilt and to each program for the young women who were guests of the fraternity, was attached a silver bar pin with the same letters engraved upon them. The supper tables were placed in the balcony and were decorated in frat colors, of red and black. On each table stood a candelabrum filled with red candles. The opening dance was led by Wayne Monahan and the letters of the fraternity were formed during the march. Good music was furnished for a long program of dances. Punch was served during the evening.

Restin—Paul.

A very pretty home wedding took place on Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock when Miss Caroline Paul, of South Harrison street, and Rev. Otto H. Restin, of New York city, were married by Rev. Philip Wambsganns. The wedding was celebrated at the home of the bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Paul, of 1804 Harrison street, and was witnessed by relatives and intimate friends. Two nieces of the bride, Miss Della Paul, of this city, and Miss Louise Harsch, of South Haven, Mich., were gowned in white and attended the bride. The bride wore a dainty white gown of embroidery and in her hair white rosebuds. The bridal bouquet was made of bride roses and ferns. Music during the evening was furnished by Prof. Hahn, of Emmaus Lutheran church. The house was prettily decorated both with Christmas colors and in southern smilax and white flowers for the wedding. An elegant wedding supper was served after the bride and groom had been congratulated. There were present about sixty guests, including Mrs. Harsch and Miss Harsch, of South Haven. The bride's table at supper was decorated with smilax and white roses. The bride and groom will not take a wedding trip and remained in the city until tonight, when they leave for New York city. Rev. Restin is an emigration missionary for the Lutheran church. He is a bright and energetic young minister and has chosen for his bride an attractive young woman of high principle and lovable character.

Sams—Helm.

A quiet wedding of Wednesday noon, Dec. 28, took place at the home of Mrs. Carl Helm, 2208 Virginia avenue, when her daughter, Miss Amanda Helm became the bride of Mr. William S. Sams. Rev. August Lange performed the ceremony. The bride was prettily attired in a wine color velvet traveling suit and a hat to match it. The bride and groom have gone on a wedding trip and will be at home in this city after the first of February.

DON'T BREAK THE MANTEL.

When lighting turn on the gas for a few seconds, then hold the match one inch above the chimney. It is through applying the match too quickly that so many mantels are destroyed.

BRAID TRIMMED VELVET SUIT.

Some of the silk braid used on velvet street costumes is as wide as sash ribbon and these wide braids are applied in simple ways, like the panel effect illustrated.

The hat is the "sundown" model brought out by Lewis and fancied by women who delight in novel and picturesque effects.

Transparent Yokes

Except for actual evening dress, the low neck is not seen this winter. Fashion decrees instead—and good sense for once joins her—the transparent yoke and high collar be worn instead. This yoke may be pleated or tucked, but more frequently it is perfectly plain, without a suggestion of ruching or ornamentation of any kind. Of course, the collar must be boned, but the bones are made as few and as inconspicuous as possible, so that the yoke and the collar seem simply fitted closely, though not tightly, to the figure. These yokes are usually of net, though chiffon and even tulle or maline are occasionally seen, particularly the first; and they are, nine times out of ten, dead white. If you have not the sort of skin that can stand pure white next to it, insert a tiny fold of ecru or flesh-colored chiffon under the top of your collar, but do not let it be apparent. This style is especially seen in dressy gowns in the darker colors—most of all in black. The color contrast is striking, and is usually most attractive and becoming. Although one would not think so, it looks especially well on middle-aged women who have not lost their fresh complexions and whose hair is white or gray. Nothing could be more distinguished in appearance than a draped black silk gown, simply trimmed, with one of these white net yokes and collars, on a woman of this type. The collar is as high as can be borne with comfort (and as tight also), and is slightly pointed under the ears. In general, it has not even a line of black at the top, but is absolutely plain throughout. So, if you have a gown of this sort which needs refurnishing, or which has a Dutch neck, think of this dictum of fashion and get you to a net counter.

WASHING THE SWEATER.

Sweaters that have been washed should never be hung when wet. In fact, according to authority on athletics, sweaters should never be hung up whether wet or dry. This man says he always roughly folds his sweater and throws it upon a shelf when not in use. He never hangs it on a peg. Consequently the sweater always keeps its shape and does not stretch.

To wash a sweater correctly a suds should be made of warm water, good white soap and borax. Into this the garment must be put to soak. After ten minutes a little more hot water may be added and the sweater lifted up and down in the water, squeezing it through the hands.

No soap must be rubbed directly in the coat. Neither must it be wrung too dry.

When clean rinse in warm water, adding borax, and then dry it in a heap.

Tie in a cloth to a line until the dripping has ceased, when the sweater can be laid on a dry cloth on the ground, a table or any convenient place.

A register is serviceable for this when the furnace is going.

Of course, one must give attention during the drying process, turning and twisting as the garment dries. Always remember never to shake, hang up or wring a sweater.

USEFUL HINTS.

Never darn knitted underwear with wool. It will shrink and make a hole larger than the original one. Use instead loosely twisted knitting silk. Darn very loosely and when washed the new texture will be almost the same as the knitted goods themselves.

Do not throw your wornout hot-water bag away, but cut it in round or oval pieces and use them as mats to put under flower pots.

All bath robes will be discounted 20 per cent until Saturday night.

THE SHOP AND RAIL NEWS

B. J. ROBERTS TO MEXICO

Takes Charge of Miners' Supply Company in Diaz's Home.

SUCCEEDS EDWARD J. O'CONNELL

F. H. Clark Goes to B. & O. to Succeed J. D. Harris.

After a service of a little over ten years, B. J. Roberts will retire from railway work Saturday and immediately assume the duties of secretary and sales manager of the Deister Miners' Supply company, with headquarters in the City of Mexico, Mexico. He succeeds E. J. O'Connell, who will assume a place with the Deister Concentrator company, in this city, though he will retain his interests in the Mexican company. The Deister Miners' Supply company was organized in 1906 to meet the requirements of the Mexican laws and Mr. O'Connell immediately took charge of the Mexican end of the business. Its object were to handle the products of the Deister Concentrator company, of this city, though it is an entirely separate concern in which the concentrator company has no interest other than to supply mining machinery as it is ordered by the selling company. The officers are: President, Louis Fox; vice president, Dr. E. J. McOscar; secretary-treasurer, E. J. O'Connell; assistant secretary, B. J. Roberts. The company has been very successful in the sale of miners' supplies and will undoubtedly do a much larger business in the future than in the past. Mr. Roberts is a native of Huntington county, having been born and educated at Roanoke. After graduating from the Roanoke high school in 1897, he came to Fort Wayne and attended and graduated from the business college. Then he took a position as stenographer and clerk with S. F. Bowser & Company and in April, 1900, he took a similar position in Supt. J. B. McKim's office, of the Pennsylvania. He was promoted several times, the last time to the office of account clerk, or assistant to the chief clerk of the transportation department, from which he will retire Saturday. He will leave this evening, accompanied by Mrs. Roberts and the children, for Mexico, and will take up his duties with the Miners' Supply company as soon as he arrives in the land of President Diaz. An interesting incident of this change is the fact that in taking his new office Mr. Roberts resigns the position occupied by Mr. O'Connell before he went to Mexico.

B. J. ROBERTS,
Who Retires from a Railway Position to Engage in Business.

SUCCEEDS JOE HARRIS.

F. H. Clark Appointed Superintendent of Motive Power of the B. & O.

F. H. Clark has been appointed general superintendent of motive power of the Baltimore and Ohio, to succeed J. D. Harris, resigned. Mr. Clark comes from the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road and he has been succeeded as general superintendent of motive power on that system by F. A. Torrey, formerly superintendent of motive power of the same road. Mr. Clark is quite well known in railway and shop circles in Fort Wayne, having once been connected with the mechanical department of the Pennsylvania and later with the Wabash. The change becomes effective Sunday.

TWO UNIONS HAVE ELECTION.

The roster for the Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers for the year 1911 will be as follows: Martin Scott, president; F. Hutchinson, vice president; George Bopp, recording secretary; E. T. Drew, financial secretary; F. Kadletz, conductor; Wendell Wilson, warden, and the members of the board of trustees, E. E. Krichner, John Seitz and Edward Schott.

At the election of the Boilermakers' union last night the result was as follows: William Miller, president; C. F. Rodenbeck, vice president; Edward C. Siebold, financial secretary; William Rehm, corresponding secretary; L. J. Miller, treasurer; C. Gidley, recording secretary; J. Hanson, inspector, and William Zimmerman, trustee for three years.

MOULDERS HAVE GOOD TIME.

About twenty of the foremen, assistant foremen and clerks at the Bass foundry, pining for pleasure and at the same time wishing to pay honor to one of their associates, marched in a body to the home of Charles Linnemeier last night and, as one of the boys said, "got all that was coming to them." As soon as Mr. Linnemeier recovered from the shock of surprise, he was presented with a meerschaum pipe, with all of the appurtenances of a good smoke. Then cards were introduced and after several games, refreshments were served. Mr. Linnemeier is foreman of the car wheel department of the big foundry.

HAD SERIES OF MISHAPS.

Yesterday was an unfortunate day for C. F. Rippe, foreman of the Pennsylvania pattern shop. Early in the morning he had one of his wrists slightly scalded by steam from the teapot at his home. After breakfast he left home for the shop and en route fell down on the ice four times, but was not seriously injured. After reaching the shop he went to the assistance of a patternmaker in handling a big pattern and strained his back. That was enough. He went home, least he meet with more serious injury, and will not be out for a day or two on account of being barely able to walk.

PUTTING UP NEW PLATFORMS.

The Wabash has a gang of carpenters at work in putting a sixteen-foot wide stairway and two platforms, one on either side of the stairway, for the handling of mail, express and baggage east of the depot building. A wide driveway, to accommodate cabs, mail and baggage wagons has been built there, and when the carpenters complete their present task, it will wind up the work at the passenger depot for the winter at least. Passengers reaching the Wabash depot by cab will be unloaded at the east end of the depot, where the stairway is not so long nor steep, having only eleven steps.

AN HOUR WITH OLD FRIENDS.

V. H. Wendt spent an hour or two in the city yesterday, looking up and chatting with old friends. This is the first time he has visited Fort Wayne since he left here five years ago to take charge of the Nickel Plate freight business in Cleveland. Mr. Wendt is now the manager of the big paper manufacturing plant of Hind & Dauch, at Gloucester, N. J., just across the river from Philadelphia. The plant is closed this week to give the employes a little vacation and Mr. Wendt took advantage of the opportunity to visit his friends in Hoosierdom. He was local agent of the Nickel Plate several years.

TWO SLIGHT WRECKS.

By falling when he jumped from a G. R. & I. engine at Kendallville Tuesday, Brakeman A. Haas sustained a cut in the back of his head and an injury to one of his legs, which temporarily disabled him. He had to abandon his run and come home. Northbound freight train No. 91, on the G. R. & I., crashed into a car that had been left on the main track near Lagrange and sent it forward to collide with considerable force with the side of some of the other cars of the train to which it belonged while cars were being put into a siding. Several cars were put out of commission, but no one was hurt.

FIRST IN THE FIELD.

Although the election is nearly six months distant, interest in the selection of the man who will represent the Western division of the board of committeemen of the Pennsylvania Voluntary Relief association begins to assert itself. James G. Roper, a blacksmith, who was a candidate two years ago, is the first to indicate a desire for the honor. He said this morning it was his intention to seek election next spring. Orville Irvin, the present incumbent, has the distinction of being the only man to hold the office three successive terms.

HAD MANY FRIENDS HERE.

The telegram concerning the death of John E. Turner, which appears in another column of The Sentinel today, will carry sad news to a number of Fort Wayne friends of the man. Mr. Turner was the traveling passenger agent of the Northern Pacific for this territory seven years ago and for a long while came here two or three times a month. He was very popular with the local ticket agents and the traveling men and others whom he met here.

AN OLD TIME FIREMAN.

Joseph Maibeff was buried in Peru this afternoon. He was for twelve years a fireman on the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago railroad, now a branch of the Lake Erie and Western. This road was built some time in the fifties and Mr. Maibeff was the first fireman on the little engine which was taken to Peru on the old Wabash and Erie canal.

CLERK INJURED IN FALL.

Fred Wellman, a clerk at the shipping room of the Fort Wayne Eelectric works, is not at his desk today. En route to his home last evening, he received quite a shaking up when he slipped and fell to the pavement. No bones were broken, however, and he will soon be at work as usual.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

J. D. Rauch left today for New Orleans, La., on business connected with the American Steel Dredge company.

Trainmaster C. E. Wells, of the Wabash, was in the city today, on business for the company.

S. S. Rothrock, a construction man for the electric company, left last night for Oklahoma.

M. J. McHale and J. Cacho are new flue welders at the Pennsylvania shops, beginning work there this morning.

Vice President C. T. Strawbridge, of the Bass Foundry and Machine company, is in St. Louis on business for the company.

E. F. W. Hambrock, W. Lepper, C. Heckler, J. R. VanBuskirk and J. L. Bobay, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty.

Peter N. Butzen, district passenger agent of the Chicago Great Western railroad, headquarters in Chicago, was in the city calling on the local agents today.

Blacksmith Fred C. Schultz, of the Pennsylvania shops, resumed work this morning, having returned from his brother's home, near Sheldon, where he spent several days.

The Wabash wreck crew from Peru was called here yesterday to pick up some derailed cars at the east end of the yards. Nobody was hurt and the property damage was light.

Blacksmith F. H. Gaylor, of the Pennsylvania, is entertaining his sister, Mrs. Rose Werner, of Detroit. Mrs. Werner formerly resided here and has a wide acquaintance in the city.

Announcement was made today that William K. Lucas, who for the last twelve years has been general agent for the Monon railroad at Lafayette, will retire January 1. A successor has not yet been announced.

Mr. Beebe, a brother to DeWitt Beebe, the baggageman who lost his life in the Nevada wreck, was here today to receive the watch, purse, jewelry and other personal effects of the dead man found in the wrecked cars.

The bowling games scheduled for Monday night at the Metropolitan alleys, between the Knitters and the Bass teams, has been postponed until Wednesday on account of the holiday and the absence from the city of some of the members of the teams.

The annual ball of the Boilermakers' union at Saengerbund hall New Year's eve will be up to the previous social events of its kind given by the boilermakers, both in a pleasurable and financial way. The ticket sales have been very heavy.

George Taylor and Charles Haas, of the Bass boiler shop, are off duty today on account of sickness. Bert Grabner, an apprentice in the same shop, is also missing and his associates have started the story that he is in Michigan and will return with a bride in a day or two.

There is a persistent rumor out that the pension system now in force on the New York Central lines will be extended to the Lake Erie and Western and other Vanderbilt properties. Compulsory retirement at the age of seventy will be a feature of the retirement rule.

Charles Petsinger, of Macon, Ga., is spending the holiday season with his relatives in this city. He is foreman of the boiler department of the Central Georgia railroad shops at Macon. He learned his trade in the Pennsylvania shops in this city and called there yesterday to see the "boys."

A very trifling wound in the face, the result of being struck by a railway spike which rebounded when thrown to the ground, has placed Nicholas Younger in the Wabash hospital at Peru in a very critical condition. He suffers from blood poisoning. Younger is the Wabash section boss at Buck Creek.

THE RESOLVER'S RUBAIYAT.

ALAS, the dreaded Time draws nigh again—
The Same old Mystic Season when I must Forswear the Things that now I love
And say Farewell to Pleasures of the "Den!"

Goodby, fond "Snipe!" I'll miss You—yes, you Bet!
I hate to think of Giving up my Cigarette.
I'll Smoke a few Days more, and then—all's Off!
It probably will be the Last I'll get.

And Thou, Highball, and Amber Stuff and All
Decoctions such, to Me will be as Gall
When comes the Glad New Year, for then I'll Pass
The Drink Game Up and make a Pious "Stall."

Hail, Water Wagon! Thee I'll Mount, no fear.
I'm mighty Glad that soon You will be Here.
No Wine, no Smoke, no Swear, no more Gay Times.
Hope I won't Fall Off. I Did last Year!

Street Car Etiquette.

A gentleman will always give a pretty girl a seat.

It is not good form to gossip about the conductor's honesty in ringing up fares to such an extent that you fail to pay your own fare.

A gentleman will always apologize if his face gets in the way of large hats or umbrellas.

Male passengers will kindly help all young lady passengers with suit cases and bundles. The conductor is paid to look after the grandmothers and washerwomen.

The smoker door should never be closed.

It is more a custom than a matter of etiquette to hold an old overcoat against the car heater so the company can buy a new one in its place.

Passengers are not obliged to read the car advertisements.

If the car is cold complain to the conductor, and he will make it hot for you.—Judge.

Mixed Emotions.

A Bostonian tells of a clean, well set up young Irishman who formerly saw service in the British navy, but who is now engaged in business at the Hub.

"When are you going to get home rule in Ireland, John?" the Bostonian once idly asked.

"The only way that we'll get home rule in ould Ireland," said the Celt, "will be if France an' Russia an' Germany an' Austria an' maybe Italy—if they would all join together to give those blackguards of England a rare ould batin'. That's the only way, sir, we'll get home rule."

Then as he looked cautiously around a twinkle of cunning was added to his expression. "An' the whole lot of 'em together couldn't do it, sir. Oh, it's the grand navy we've got!"—Lippincott's.

HOLZHAUER WINS O'KEEFE MATCH

Local Fighter Too Strong and Clever for the Veteran.

GOOD CARD IS GIVEN

Young Holzhauer, of Fort Wayne, and Jack O'Keefe, of Chicago, mixed for ten rounds last night at the St. Joe club's entertainment in Princess rink, and when the bell clapper tolled finis the local boxer had the visitor where the rest would have been easy if there had been any rest. It was Holzhauer's first showing here as a headline principal and he won and deserved the plaudits of a big crowd of his friends. He held his own throughout, and from the second round distinctly took, kept and increased his advantage. Had a decision been awarded it certainly would have gone to Holzhauer.

O'Keefe is a veteran fighter and knows the game most of the way. He is strong, shifty and fast and set a corking pace at the beginning. He got to Holzhauer in the first round for two or three good hard punches, but did not succeed in slowing the local boy. Holzhauer held him even in the second round and in the third set the pace himself. From that on Holzhauer had the Chicago man going most of the time.

Two or three times when it appeared Holzhauer had the veteran in such distress as seemed to foretell a windup, O'Keefe showed he had been stalling for chance to put over a finisher. In the last round, however, he was taking vast punishment when the gong stopped the bout.

Holzhauer showed great coolness, good generalship, fine footwork and a clever use of both hands. He has a splendid left spud with which he repeatedly stopped O'Keefe's rushes. Of hitting power there seemed to be a distinct want. It may be Holzhauer was not extending himself last night and that such conclusion must account for his failure to show the all-essential punch. He may have had loads of driving power coiled up in his lithe muscles, but he did not call out the reserves at any time. Holzhauer proved that he has not been idly touted as a game, willing and capable fighter. He showed all the qualities of class last night.

Frankie Mason, the local bantam, and Tommy Shoup, a Chicago youngster, gave a six-round exhibition that stirred up the biggest enthusiasm of the evening. It was a fast, furious, clean and scientific session of milling. Shoup for the most part was aggressor and he compelled Mason to break ground repeatedly with the impetuosity of his rushes, but frequently he was stopped by Mason's carefully delivered right punch. Shoup has a terrific wide swing that will be fatal if it ever land, but that it ever will on a capable man is doubtful. It is too long coming. In the second and third rounds Mason floored Shoup clean and through-out had the better of the going. At the end of the sixth Shoup was in plain distress for wind and endurance. Two rounds more would probably have witnessed a decisive finish. Mason, too, was tired.

Paddy Keller and Willie Shaffer, in the semi-windup, presented a plain case of stalling for the money. There was for a time enough ginger to make it look like a real fight and it fooled the crowd, which demanded that Keller be taken out. The referee ended it on that ground, though Keller skipped from the ring practically standing and in no evident distress at all. The barrel bout between colored lads amused the crowd. The Mason-Shoup contest and the Holzhauer-O'Keefe mill were voted worth all the money.

CALL OF SIMPLE LIFE FOR CHAMP

Ad Wolgast Says He Will Put in Another Year in the Ring.

THEN FOR THE FARM

"The coming year will be my last in pugilism, according to the plans of myself and Mr. Jones, my manager, as I purpose settling down on my farm near Cadillac and leading a quiet life. I have tried the glare of the ring and have strolled the so-called Great White Way and found that they do not appeal to me. I guess I was cut out for the simple life. Every man's enjoyment certainly lies in that course of action which suits his taste most," says Ad Wolgast in a special article written for the Grand Rapids Press.

"I adopted pugilism as a profession because I felt convinced that I could succeed in it and lay the foundation for a fortune which would make my folks comfortable for life and enable me to carry out plans of scientific farming which simplify and reduce the drudgery of tilling the soil, but which are beyond the means of many farmers because of the expensive machinery required. Had I found after giving it a thorough trial that there was little hope of my becoming more than just a fair fighter I would have abandoned the ring long ago.

"During the year 1911 I expect to face at least half a dozen of the world's greatest lightweights in the ring and have every confidence that I will be able to retain the title. If I should go down to defeat it would most likely be before an Englishman, for the class of the lightweight division at the present time undoubtedly lies between Freddie Welsh and Owen Moran.

"I am all right once more. My injured arm has almost regained its former strength and in a month or two I will be just as good as I ever was. My hands have never been hurt. Breaks and bruises in other parts of the arm may be healed, but when a fighter's hands once go to the bad it is about all off with him. I have nothing to worry about on that score.

"One thing my friends may rest assured of is that I will never enter the ring to battle for the title unless I am in the finest condition careful training can make me. This particularly applies to a contest in which defeat would mean the taking of a championship to John Bull's land after years in which American fighters have denied such honors to representatives from other countries. There is nothing personal about this, as both Welsh and Moran are nice young fellows and great fighters, but if I do ever meet with defeat I would feel a great deal worse about it should it be at the hands of a foreigner.

"I do not feel that I have been given exactly fair treatment by sporting writers in many of the big cities of the country. They have roasted me to a turn for not fighting when I could not have fought had I wished to do so, my arm being in a plaster cast a great deal of the time that they were heaping coals of fire on my head for not getting out and battling for the championship. I should think it tough enough for a fellow to have to be laid up when he might be making big money by being active in the ring without being roasted for what would be an impossibility.

"As I said before, I will be open to meet six of the world's greatest lightweights during the coming year, leaving it to the public to decide whom they shall be. If necessary I will journey to Australia or England to carry out the program and the mills can be shoved together just as fast as promoters care to bid for them so long as they are not closer together than a week.

"Welsh, Moran, Knockout Brown, One-Round Hogan, Tommy Murphy and Danny Goodman are the men whom I expect the public to select to meet me and I want to put myself on record now as being willing to meet the entire six in fights to a finish all inside of three months and the sooner the better will suit me once I am fit again.

"Welsh is one of the greatest boxers who ever drew on a glove or broke resin, according to my own observations of him in action. Moran is also a great young lightweight. It remains to be seen how much real class Knockout Brown and One-Round Hogan possess, for they have not been pitted yet against real class and may fall down like selling platers once they are. Murphy and Goodman are classy performers just outside of the championship."

Young Holds Great Record

"Cy" Young's pitching record stands unparalleled.

In the twenty years in which he has been in the major leagues he has won 509 games and lost 307, making a total of 811 games in which he has worked.

That means that he has averaged 40½ games per season, that he has won an average of 25 1-5 games per season, that he has lost an average of 15 7-20 games per season. It means a winning average of 25 1-5 games per season, take into account the vast number of times in which he has worked parts of games, which do not enter into the records.

It is doubtful if Young's present record will ever be approached. Rarely is a player equipped with such physique as Young. For years players and fans alike heralded Young's departure from major company, yet each spring he is back again making veteran and recruit alike look foolish.

Next to Mathewson, Jack Powell, of the St. Louis Browns, stands out as one with a glowing career. The former Yankee has won 225 games in 12 years. Sam Leever of the Pirates; Jack Chesbro, formerly of the Yankees, and Deacon Phillippi, of the Pirates, stand next in order of rating.

Two old-time pitchers who are no longer in the game as players, compare favorably to the work of Young. Charles (Kid) Nichols in 13 years won 312 games and lost 186 for a grand average of .627. In 12 years Clarke Griffith, leader of the Cincinnati Reds, established the same average with 226 victories and but 135 defeats. Here are the records:

	Years.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Young	20	504	307	.621
Mathewson	11	262	118	.690
Powell	13	225	203	.526
Leever	12	193	97	.656
Chesbro	11	213	144	.596
Phillippi	11	186	111	.626
Nichols	13	312	186	.627
Griffith	12	226	135	.627

LUNCH FIVE GOT AN EASY SERIES

Took Gold Seals Down the Line in Three Straight Games.

DETAILS OF GAMES

In the second Brunswick league the Weimand lunch five took an easy series from the Gold Seals and at no time during the games were the losers dangerous, although they ran up a pretty fair score in the second game when Sauers rolled 219 and got the high score of the contest.

For the winning club Wefel took the high individual mark with 193, but Lentz beat him out for the average. Driver was high average man for the Gold Seals. Owing to an error given out from the alleys the games between the Meyer Brothers and El Venzos were announced for last night. They are scheduled for tonight and the lead of the league is at stake. JOHNSON TO TRY GAME IN FRANCE

Will Go to Paris to Meet Winner of Langford Jeanette Go.

HE WILL GET $25,000

Paris, Dec. 29.—It is announced that Jack Johnson, the heavyweight champion, has accepted definitely the offer made some time ago of $25,000 to come to Paris in April and fight the winner of the approaching match between Joe Jeanette and Sam Langford.

In event Jeanette succeeds in putting the Boston tar baby away he will have a chance at the black champion which will be his first since November 26, 1907.

The men will not be strangers if the meeting ever takes place as they have fought six times, but Jeanette has never had a chance at Johnson since he began to climb the pugilistic ladder in earnest.

Their first meeting was at Philadelphia in May, 1905, and they met again in November of the same year when Jeanette got a decision on a foul.

In December of the same year the two met in a no-decision match and in March, 1906, Johnson won a bout at Baltimore. The two fought again September 26 and November 26, of 1905, at Philadelphia, where there was no decision and at Portland where the battle went ten rounds to a draw.

Jeanette is touted as a favorite in the battle with Langford and with a chance to meet the champion he will probably be at his best when he enters the ring. Langford has always been able to hold Jeanette and has won over him once and gotten two draws in their meetings, the last of which took place in 1908.

GOTCH IS TICKLED.

Don't Believe Wrestlers Have Money to Take Bets.

Des Moines, Iowa, Dec. 29.—"Tickled to death," declared Frank Gotch over the telephone today when told that Jack Curley, manager for George Hackenschmidt had accepted the challenge issued through Farmer Burns that Gotch would meet any man that would put up a $20,000 side bet.

"I am ready to meet the Russian and show him that I am still world's champion. I would prefer that the match be pulled off in the next three or four weeks. After meeting him I will stay on the mat as long as any of them can put up enough money. But I don't think there is enough money in possession of the whole lot of them to cover the amount in the challenge issued by Farmer Burns."

KICKS ON THE HIGH SALARIES.

Rock Island Club Will Withdraw Unless Change Is Made.

Rock Island, Ill., Dec. 29.—The stockholders of the Rock Island baseball club at a meeting last night expressed themselves as strongly opposed to the high salaries of baseball as played in the [illegible] and decided [illegible] unless given positive assurance that [illegible] exceeded during the coming year. The club management has agreed with the Seattle, Wash., club to release Jack Tighe to Seattle in a trade for two other players. Tighe also expects to trade two of the Seattle players for Paul Davidson, outfielder with the Islanders last season.

DETROIT GETS MICKEY CORCORAN.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 29.—Infielder Mickey Corcoran, of the Cincinnati baseball team, was sold to the Detroit American league club today. Several weeks ago President Herrman of the local club, asked for waivers on Corcoran and secured them from all of the big league clubs except Detroit. Detroit then claimed the player and the sale was consummated today.

FRUIT HOUSE IS LICKED 3 TIMES

Hof Brau Team in Fine Form and Steps Into Lead in First.

SANDERS LEADS TEAM

After having held the lead in the first Brunswick league practically all of the season the White Fruit House five was badly beaten last night in the series with the Hof Brau crowd, which moved to the band wagon place by taking three games in a row.

In the opening struggle it was anybody's game to the last ball and there was a difference of only five pins at the finish and the game went to the Wiebke team because Frank Hills, leader of the opposition blew a spare in the tenth.

"Ot" Sander led the procession during the whole performance and got 632 pins for his three games with 221 in the last game for his best score. At the close of the games Harry A. Wiebke, of the Hof Brau, whose team won out, presented a loving cup to Sander for having made the best score on the alleys during the season prior to Christmas. Mr. Wiebke made a nice little speech to the bowlers.

This cup was donated by Edward White, of the White Fruit House at the opening of the league season. All of the Hof Brau bowlers maintained their averages with the exception of Hendelman who rolled into three bad splits in the opener and gave way to Gehring. Kelly, Leist and Doehrman each had doubles during the game.

For the Fruit House five Farnan was the only player to bowl to his usual form. Fred Reynolds had three splits and two blows in his second game and fell down badly and Hills was ten points below his usual figure. There was not a double century score registered by the team and Boland carried away the high individual mark with a total of 195 in his second game. The scores:

FRAMING UP SOMETHING.

[Grand Rapids Press.]

Local baseball fans are talking of organizing a club for the purpose of getting together on a demand that the city either be represented by a league baseball team in keeping with its population and importance to the circuit or deserted entirely by the Central league, determined to withhold their patronage hereafter from teams which reflect anything but credit on the city.

Boosters' clubs have been started here, but this is the first movement which has ever been made here by the fans in the form of organized demand for a suitable team, due to disappointment over teams not coming up to expectations. Considering that the city has been represented by no less than half a dozen tail-end teams the present movement bespeaks a widespread discontent which means the worst kind of a team here next year unless it is a winner from the start and holds a high place in the standing to the finish.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS HURT.

Boston, Dec. 29.—Thirty-two of the 692 football players in the eleven Boston high schools were injured during the season of 1910, according to the report compiled by Thos. F. Harrington, director of the school hygiene. This is between four and five per cent. Of this number nine are still suffering from their injuries. None of the injuries sustained during the past season was of a serious nature.

Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the metallic cough of croup, bringing dread to the household. Careful mothers keep Foley's Honey and Tar in the house and give it at the first sign of danger. It contains no opiates. Dreier & Bro.

Tidbits of Sporting News

Carl Lundgren, one of the stars of the Chicago Nationals a few years ago, will pitch for Topeka. Toronto put the rollers under the old University of Illinois player. Quite a few of Chance's former world's champions are hearing the call of the minors.

President Lynch does not favor the idea of appointing an old ball player to a position on his umpiring staff because he is an old player. If he has the right kind of a temperament and is qualified in every other way for the place he will give him a show.

Honus Wagner declines to sign an anti-booze contract. The veteran player likes his glass of beer after the game, but he does not abuse himself in any way and does not think it necessary for him to take the pledge just yet.

Jim McGuire of the Naps, will not get another chance to lead the team if he fails to land up near the top the coming season. A three-year contract will be his if he does well.

Ownie Bush is the only Tiger who ever swined one for four sacks with the bases full, and one of the select four who cleaned the bases last season in the American league.

Billy Foxen, whose transfer from Philadelphia to the Cubs caused so much talk last summer—and who didn't pitch even one full game for Chance—will be let out, it is reported, and Jersey City will probably get him.

Arthur Irwin thinks the Highlanders will surely cop next season. He believes that Davis, Murphy, Plank and Bender will go back rapidly in 1911, and thus spoil the Athletics' chances for another flag.

Joe McGinnity doesn't believe that "Lefty" Russell, the $12,000 pitcher, will be a great success with the Athletics. The veteran doubts whether Russell will last long in fast company on account of his style of pitching. McGinnity ought to be a pretty good judge, and he says that Russell will wear himself out in a short time. "For mine," says Joe, "I'd rather have Wyatt Lee, who has been in the business for years."

Bill Carrigan, the crack young catcher of the Boston Red Sox is in a pretty kettle of fish since he issued his ultimatum of "same salary as last year or nothing" to his employers. Owner Taylor tendered the backstop a contract for next season, calling for a reduction in his salary. Carrigan objected. Taylor is obstinate and says that Carrigan will have to abide by the terms or take the consequences.

According to prominent baseball men in Chicago—and among them Ban Johnson, Charley Comiskey and Charley Murphy—the national pastime "lost the greatest ball fan in the country" with the demise of Fire Chief James Horan in the stock yards fire in the Windy City last week. Horan loved the game so much that he followed the two Chicago teams to other cities in order to watch them play.

James A. Hart, former owner of the Chicago Cubs, declares that Hank O'Day is the real king of umpires. While lauding Emslie, Hart says O'Day is the only "decisioner" in the game who is well versed with the rules and is able to offer suggestions. In other words O'Day is the most intellectual umpire, besides being a student of the game.

Comment of Central League

Dr. F. R. Carson, president of the Central league, is urging the sale of either the Grand Rapids or South Bend franchise so that when his directors meet in January they will not be confronted with dual ownership, which they have found very objectionable. Bert Annis, owner of both of the teams, has discovered that it is not good policy for one man to hold more than one, and he is probably as anxious to dispose of one or the other as the president is to have a deal consummated, but he is holding out for his price and unless he gets it there is little probability that he will sell.

With one owner Grand Rapids is not a good attraction in South Bend nor are the Benders money makers in the stronghold of the Stags, because the spirit of rivalry that is the life of the game is destroyed and Mr. Annis has been brought to a full realization of this fact.

He has announced that newspaper enterprise helped to block his deal with Dr. Harley Parker and says he is on another lay and is keeping his counsel about the matter and does not propose that it shall fall through by reason of undesirable publicity.

* * *

Eddie Wheeler spent the holiday season in South Bend and although he hoped that his visit would bring about the settlement of the dispute between him and Bert Annis nothing was done and his affairs are in practically the same condition as when he set out on his mission.

Wheeler does not want to play for Annis and if they had been on good terms there would in all probability have been little trouble arranging a deal with Terre Haute. The Grand Rapids fiasco added fuel to the flame and widened the breach. Wheeler had practically agreed to take the management of the Grand Rapids club. He says his conditions were not complied with and he balked. This made Annis sore and complicated matters for Louis Smith who wants Wheeler to lead the Tots.

* * *

Dr. Carson's proposal to pay all salaries from his office to insure that club owners will keep within the salary limit sounds good enough but it would be as ineffectual as the present by-laws covering the question. When the directors become absolutely honest with each other then the salary limit bugaboo will have been disposed of.

Suppose that each club should send to the president each month money enough for him to pay all salaries what is to prevent them from paying the players on the side just as they do now? None of the legislation looking toward a settlement of this big problem will be of any value until the men most vitally interested put their feet down firmly and say that they will pay the sum stipulated by the league by-laws and no more and stick to it. Nobody has ever been able to bring about this condition and if Dr. Carson does it his niche in the hall of baseball fame is assured.

* * *

Aside from the fact that James "Lil" Sager was operated on for appendicitis and that Aggie Grant signed a pitcher no baseball news has come out of Evansville during the winter months. Owner-manager Aggie Grant has never made much noise about his club but has generally worked quietly and collected a pretty likely bunch and it is a pretty safe bet that he will be ready to repeal when the proper time comes.

* * *

From Terre Haute comes the news that Louis D. Smith has put one over on his near-manager and signed a phenom. Of course, he is a pitcher as most phenoms are up to the time they explode.

This fellow will come into the league with the name of Rojahn, if he sticks. He is a Fontanet product and has a world of steam and all of the things that a pitcher needs to break in with. Smith had pretty good luck when he picked up Earl Hennis and he may do as well with his new possession.

Rode in Rain and McGraw Agreed to Take the Giants

Frederick Ripley Martin Knowles, the former secretary-treasurer of the New York club, is the man who was responsible for McGraw casting his fortunes with the Giants. When the campaign of 1902 started, Horace Spectacular Fogel was the manager of the Polo grounds team. H. S. F. was presented with the Tin Ware Degree by Andrew Freedman on June 10, the Giants having won 18 out of 43 games under the direction of the present president, but not the owner of the Philadelphia National league club. Fogel's successor as manager was George Henry Smith, who played in the Eastern league last year. The Giants had played poorly under Fogel, but their work under Smith was even worse. George Henry relinquished the job on July 9, the Giants having won three and lost 20 battles while he was their field leader. From July 10 until July 19, the club was practically leaderless.

On July 19 McGraw took charge and conditions improved. It was toward the end of June that Knowles thought of the scheme to bring McGraw to New York. John J. was then the manager of the Baltimore American league team and was having all sorts of trouble with Ban Johnson, the head of the younger organization. McGraw was disgusted with the national pastime and had about made up his mind to sell his stock in the Baltimore club and devote all his time to running the cafe in which he and Wilbert Robinson were interested in Baltimore. Knowles spoke to Freedman about making an offer to McGraw and the owner of the Giants told Frederick Ripley to go ahead and see what he could do. Knowles took a train for Baltimore and arrived there at 7 p. m. in a terrible rainstorm.

He chartered a seagoing hack at the railroad station, drove to McGraw's place and told John J. the mission that had taken him to the Monumental City. "Beat it," said McGraw to Knowles. "I'm through with baseball and don't want to talk about it or think about it." This welcome did not disconcert the urbane F. R. M. K., who induced McGraw to go for a ride with him in the hack and talk baseball for a time. The two men rode about Baltimore in the rain for four hours and Knowles caught the midnight train back to New York, carrying with him the promise of McGraw to come and lend a hand in the reconstruction of the local team.

McGraw showed up in Gotham on July 12, but before that time he had several conferences with Andrew Freedman and was told to go ahead and see what he could do about buying a controlling interest in the Baltimore club. McGraw swung the deal all right, but John T. Brush, who then owned the Cincinnati club, got wind of what was going to happen and was in Baltimore at the time the Orioles changed owners. Brush put up a claim for Joe Kelly and Cy Seymour, and got them. The plan of Freedman to break up the American league by getting control of the Baltimore club availed nothing, because Ban Johnson was right on the spot when the team was disrupted and the next day Johnson got together a club to play out the season.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 29.—Reduced Argentine crop estimates and more active buying in France and other European countries, helped give a firm tone today to thet wheat market here. In addition the weather map showed generally dry conditions southwest, although a little moisture was noted at various places. On the other hand, cash demand dragged and displayed no sign of any improvement soon. On the bulge there was quite free selling by commission houses in general. Opening prices were ¼c to ⅝c higher. May started at 96⅝c to 96½c with the same variation from last night as the market on the whole, but then reacted to 96⅛@96⅜c.

Complaint that much corn was still too damp and not keeping well and that an unusual proportion was not high grade made the market firm. May opened ¼c to ⅜c up at 48c to 48¼c and held around 47⅞@48c.

Oats were aided upward by strength of corn and wheat. May started a shade higher at 33⅞c and sold at 33⅞@34c.

Provisions weakened on account of lower prices for hogs. First sales were 2½c to 25c down, with May options at $18.45 to $18.50 for pork; $10.05 for lard and $9.67½ for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, Dec. 29.—The feature of the opening of the stock market was the strength of Canadian Pacific and Southern Railway preferred, which gained 1¾ and 1¼, respectively. In the active list gains of substantial fractions to a point were the rule. Some heaviness was shown in Steel at the opening, but that stock soon recovered its loss. The only severe decline in the early trading was in Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie, which fell 1⅝.

Sentiment became more cheerful when the market failed to make its usual downward dip following the opening and there was a well distributed demand for stocks which was reflected in higher prices all around. Among the notable advances were General Electric 2 points, Atlantic Coast Line 1½, Louisville & Nashville 1⅜, Missouri Pacific 1¼ and Union Pacific, Reading, New York Central, Lehigh Valley, Kansas City Southern and United States Steel 1.

The broad and comprehensive advance in stocks was well maintained throughout the morning session on a smaller volume of business, the movement being materially assisted by extensive short covering. The rise in Canadian Pacific resulted from reports that an increase in the dividend is soon to be made and the strength of the Southern Railway group was consurrent with reports of an early resumption of dividends on Southern Railway preferred. The coalers, Harrimans and other issues in the same class were well taken at rising prices, the advance in Reading anticipating the issuance of the November report, which will be published later in the day.

Some of the industrial specialities, notably United States Rubber and General Electric, were up about 2 points. Announcement of another harmony conference to be held between the steel interest in the near future was helpful to United States Steel. Bonds were irregular.

Slight recessions allowed the usual restrictions of the midday dealings.

Increased purchases of Norfolk & Western and Philadelphia Company caused substantial advances in them, but the active stocks generally were sluggish. United States Steel, Reading and Union Pacific were a shade higher than in the morning.

Hoosier Quilt Wins Fifth Prize
Prizes in the Revolutionary Quilt Contest which was conducted by all the large stores in the country, have just been awarded. It gives us great pleasure to announce that the fifth prize was awarded to Mrs. U. S. Shoaff, 853 Columbia Ave., this city. The quilt which Mrs. Shoaff entered in the contest was given a prize because of its historical interest, and was singled out from hundreds of other interesting old quilts. Considering the great number of quilts which were entered in this national contest, we feel gratified and pleased to know that Fort Wayne was successful in winning a prize. The contests were given to exploit the splendid features of the "Reddisode" Cotton Batting—the batting that is quilted all ready for use in one large sheet. The Reddisode company has spent immense sums of money in advertising, this contest being one of their unique means of bringing "Reddisode" Batting before the public.
